Company

Aristo Music is a specialist in new selection and distribution techniques for digital music. It is a Belgium-based company that works in close cooperation with the universities of Leuven and Ghent, conducting research to introduce new techniques and insights in digital music solutions. Aristo Music's objective is to create a world in which everyone can create his or her most suitable musical atmosphere, at any time, in any location or in any situation. A close cooperation between experienced music experts and a team of dynamic software specialists is the driving force behind the enterprise.

Music Consultant – Programming & Composing

Job content

Your most important task is to build and maintain dynamic playlists and extensive music agendas for the different streaming music solutions of Aristo Music by making use of the music metadata. When music metadata are changed, you are responsible for adapting the dynamic playlists and agendas to the new metadata. You also take part in the improvement and extension of the musical metadata. You co-operate closely with your colleagues of the music lab and with the software developers: you provide them with information about new insights in the metadata and you suggest ways to improve the annotation process and the creation of dynamic playlists and agendas.

Profile

- You have a master's degree
- You have a strong and broad musical knowledge
- You are familiar with terms like metadata, parameter values and databases
- You play an instrument, have a higher degree in music or have several years of experience as deejay or as musician
- You have an analytical mind
- You are creative and good at conceptual thinking and are able to work autonomously
- You have excellent communication skills
- You are flexible and can handle changes very well
- You are fluent in Dutch and English

The offer

You are not afraid of taking initiative and you have a strong personality? You like working in a team, but you are also capable of working on your own? Then maybe you are the person we are looking for. We offer you a challenging job with a lot of variation and an attractive salary.
